

England Waives Shipping Claims Against America

Agreement Is Reached Between Countries After Negotiations of Two Weeks.

TOTAL INVOLVED IS ABOUT $2,500,000

In Return U. S. Will Pay All Meritorious Claims of Citizens Against United Kingdom.

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Claims of the British government and its nationals against the United States for seizure and detention of shipping during the world war have been waived by Great Britain, it was disclosed to night with publication of notes reflecting an agreement reached two weeks ago.

In return the American government agrees to employ the money thus saved to pay claims of Americans against the British which might fall due in settlement in the British courts, but which the United States government regards as meritorious.

The American note includes a promise to request congress to enact the necessary legislation so to employ the money.

British claims which the American government has recognized as just are understood to total approximately $1,000,000, with others for which liability has not been conceded reaching a higher figure. Claims of Americans against the British total approximately $2,500,000.

The agreement definitely removes the claims from diplomatic channels and international arbitration to the courts of both countries and Secretary Kellogg, in his note to Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, agrees to ask congress to pass laws permitting British claimants not included in the settlement to sue the United States government in American courts. Similar rights in British courts now are held by American claimants.

The virtually identical notes said both governments regarded the agreement "not as a financial settlement, but as the friendly composition of conflicting points of view which seemed to lead themselves to no other form of adjustment."

In a covering statement, the state department said:

"The two governments approached the problem from a practical point of view and have been animated throughout their negotiations by a common desire to find a rational solution without sacrificing any question of principle on either side."

New Era in American Relations With Government of Calles Seen as Result of Action.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, June 1.—(Copyright, 1927, by United News.)—A new era in our relations with Mexico, more in keeping with the policy of sympathy outlined by President Coolidge in his recent United News address in New York, is expected to result from the resignation of Ambassador James R. Sheffield, which is due in the near future.

Sheffield is coming home soon and will not return to Mexico City. Who will succeed him is not known, but

NEW SUSPECT HELD IN TAMPA KILLINGS

Tampa, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—J. R. "Slim" Hudson, 45, a sign painter, was arrested tonight by deputy sheriffs and placed in the county jail for investigation in the wholesale murder of the Merrill family here Saturday morning.

While confessing to murdering five members of the family with a hammer while they slept, B. F. Levin implicated a man he knew only as "Slim." Levin has been spirited out of town for safe-keeping from members of a mob that gathered around the jail for the last three nights.

Tampa, Fla., June 2.—(AP)—After three nights of a virtual reign of terror around the county jail here, the situation was quiet early this morning with more than 500 troops guarding an area around the barricaded prison, and civil officers, reinforced by 1,000 special deputies patrolling the city.

All groups of more than three persons on the street after 9 o'clock were dispersed and several were arrested when they acted suspiciously.

No firing has been reported all night.

Thirty Are Jailed.

Four dead, three others in a serious condition and more than a score wounded, marked the three nights of rioting that culminated last night when national guardsmen answered shots from a crowd in the vicinity of the county jail with machine gun fire.

Thirty alleged members of the mobs were under arrest and held to await action by the grand jury, called to meet in special session Monday to investigate the disturbances.

Undisputed by an unsuccessful attempt Sunday night to remove B. F. Levin, confessed leader of five, from the county jail, and another attempt the following night when 12 persons were wounded in a brush with deputy sheriffs, the mob formed again Tuesday night and persisted in its purpose until the troops' fire had moved down 21 persons, four of whom subsequently died of their wounds.

Errand of Mercy.

At least one of the victims was on an errand of mercy when he was felled. Hugh Edward McRae, of Fort Williams, Ontario, had stopped to minister to a wounded man lying in the street, when a stray bullet struck him.

The other victims were Hal Pifer, 33, of Ocala, Fla., foreman of drivers for a bus line; Earl McGill, an employee of the Sinclair Oil company, and W. E. Browning, 43.

Colonel S. L. Lowry, commanding the 12 companies of guardsmen here, served copy notice today that "our forces will show the lawless element that we are prepared to cope with it."

He said that those who fired on the troops "had murder in their minds and the situation may very well indeed become very serious if mobs are not suppressed, once for all."

Meanwhile residents were called upon by a citizens' committee to remain at home after 9 p. m., as long as trouble threatens.

The woman and the corset salesman may even be saved from electrocution, but that would be incidental. The two wayward suburbanites are just handy lay figures as far as the League for the Abolition of Capital Punishment is concerned.

The league, after hesitating since its formation in 1925, plans to strike boldly for a vote in the state legislature immediately after the opening of the new session. The vote may be taken in January, at which time Mrs. Snyder and Gray are likely still to be alive.

"Their convictions have injected new vigor into the sentiment against capital punishment," said Miss Vivian Pierce, secretary of the league.

"Hundreds of letters have poured in since the Snyder case—a greater number in a few weeks than ever before—the largest and most insistent demonstration against the death penalty in the history of the organization."

The plans for the campaign to revise the criminal code and substitute life imprisonment for execution have not fully crystallized.

The league has some of the finest flows of energy and pleading in the United States at its command.

On the league's executive committee are Clarence Darrow, Samuel Untermyer, Arthur Garfield Hays, Warden Lewis Lawes of Sing Sing, Dr. George Kirchwey, the noted criminologist, and Dr. Katherine Bemen-Davis.

Boston, June 1.—(United News.)—Governor Fuller tonight announced appointment of Judge Robert Grant, President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, and President Samuel W. Stratton, of M. I. T., as an advisory commission to aid him in reviewing the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

The committee, it was explained in the statehouse announcement, will sit independently of the governor and the governor will continue his own study of the case as he has been doing.

Appointment of the committee was made under the law which authorizes the governor to "seek such aid as he might desire from any proper source" in his consideration of capital cases.

Finally important, the committee was named by Governor Fuller, it was explained.

The announcement came as a surprise as Governor Fuller had recently indicated that he would not comply with the many requests that he appoint a commission to consider the case.

The Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee last week protested against the governor's single review of the case and asked that he either appoint a committee or permit the attorney for the condemned men to be present when the governor's review of the case.

Witnesses were interviewed. Objection was made to the lack of publicity surrounding the governor's investigation. Secrecy in the questioning of witnesses was held to be inimical to the interests of the defendants.

The issue of whether Sacco and Vanzetti obtained a fair trial was denied to die in July for a robbery and double murder committed seven years ago. Both men are now in the Dedham jail awaiting the outcome of the governor's review of the case.

Since he became the deciding factor in the case Fuller has received petitions and communications running into the thousands, asking that he commute the men from the death penalty. Frequent requests have been made also for appointment of a commission of outstanding citizens to aid him in reviewing the case.

On Tuesday Judge Tison, of the middle circuit, declined to sign a writ from the federal court in Boston for Gore to carry the case to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The American filer was lost in the great sea of people and up to this time had been unrecognized by anyone. He lunched in the stewards' room of the Alaska club and there met Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Marquis of Londonderry and other notables. After lunch he received the chief clerk of the day when he crossed the track to the judges' stand. The hearty cheer for Lindbergh was heard, however, before he had traveled 100 yards, as the noise of bookmakers shouting drowned it out.

But what he lacked in the way of adulation from those interested deeply in the races he made up in the way of attention from the scores of young women and girls. During the entire afternoon they stood with their backs to the track facing the filer. When he desired to see the track he had to look over their shoulders and knocked her (Mrs. Hansel) unconscious on one occasion.

The colony ruler was described as a mercenary fraud by the witness. She asserted he sent an agent to England to secure some property which he would use to bribe a dying blind woman. Before the woman was dead the agent attempted to strip diamond rings from her fingers, the witness said. Then he came back and boasted of his feat, she declared. The diamonds were given by Benjamin to adorn the gorgeous raiment he formerly affected, Mrs. Hansel said.

The defense asked when Mrs. Hansel testified Purnell told her the colony might be able to net $8,000 loaned to it by an incompetent named Deitrich. Purnell told her a mortgage given Deitrich was never recorded. Barnard refuted this by introducing the record of the mortgage and its payment.

"Don't you know Purnell never told you these things you claim he did? As a matter of fact, aren't all the witnesses to any of these crimes you charge against Purnell either dead or witnesses for the state in the present case?" Barnard shouted.

Mrs. Hansel appeared exhausted after several hours on the stand and court was adjourned a few minutes earlier because of her condition.

Queen Mary Purnell knew of Benjamin's abuses of young girl inmates of the colony, Mrs. Hansel averred. She said when she was first called to the stand she was first called to the stand the only way of preventing internal discord in the event of Ferdinand's death.

Queen Marie joined the king in asking Averescu to resign on the grounds that a coalition might prove flow from that break resulted in recession of flood levels. Far to the

5,000 MARINES COMING TO MEET CHINESE CRISIS

Men Are Sent to Tientsin To Meet Emergencies Caused by Northern Crash.

ADMIRAL ACTS ON DISCRETION

State Department Says He and General Butler Have Been Ordered To Use Own Judgment.

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Movement of between 4,000 and 5,000 American marines from Shanghai and the Philippines to Tientsin to meet any emergency that may arise from the collapse of the northern Chinese army south of the Yellow river is being carried out in accordance with prearranged plans, official dispatches received here today said.

The force constitutes more than 3,500 marines, which Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, American marine commander in China, has held for many weeks at Shanghai, and approximately 1,700 which are en route from the Philippines. The latter force left three or four days ago, it was said, but it was not definitely known when General Butler sailed with his men from Shanghai.

Marines To Be Moved.

The only other marines in China are the comparatively small number maintained as a guard for the American legation at Peking, and these also will be moved, officials said, if it should be deemed advisable to transfer the legation to a more accessible point for protection purposes in the north.

Either the transfer of the legation to Tientsin or the carrying out of the proposed strengthening of the Peking guard by 2,000 additional mixed troops is regarded here as a logical development, although no official word was received today in that connection.

State department officials reiterated the Admiral Williams' command that naval forces in Chinese waters, and General Butler were empowered to use their discretion in moving their forces.

Under consideration for some time in view of the reported flight of the northern Chinese army from Honan and Anhwei provinces and the consequent danger faced by Americans and other foreigners in those regions. Officials do not foresee any serious trouble such as occurred at Nanking, since few Americans remain in North China. Their concentration at Tientsin, it was pointed out, has been proceeding for some weeks.

SOLDIERS RUSHED TO DEFEND PEKING.

BY RODERICK MATHEWS.

(Copyright, 1927, by The Constitution and the Associated Press.)

Tokio, June 1.—North Manchurian garrisons are being stripped and the troops are streaming south to Mukden to defend the Peking defense line, according to reports from Chang-chung-fu. Observers believe they will be stopped north of the great wall in order to defend the Manchurian border only. The famous Heilungkiang cavalry division, which twice snatched from seeming defeat for Marshal Chang Tso-lin is among the forces hurrying south.

General Merklhoff, the Russian lieutenant of the governor of Shantung province, is recruiting white Russians throughout Manchuria to form a brigade. These are leaving southward in small groups.

The Chinese are practically closing the Siberian border against Russian travelers, while many Russians are arriving at Chang-chung-fu are being refused further passage south.

Premier Tanaka, while declining to discuss specific questions because of the delicate nature of the present situation, said that Japan has no exclusively Japanese policy in China, but an inclination to act without the cooperation of the powers in any direction.

Missing Peachtree Presbyterian Church Pastor Brought From Kansas After Long Search.

MINISTER VICTIM OF MENTAL ILLNESS

Members of Congregation Say No Action Taken To Secure Supply for Pulpit at Present.

Rev. Roy G. Hershey, missing pastor of the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, who dropped from sight May 9 and for whom a search has been made from Atlanta to Birmingham and thence to Missouri and Kansas, is at his Birmingham home with his wife and 17-year-old son under the care of two physicians, dispatches from the Alabama city Wednesday night said.

Mr. Hershey is suffering from "psychosis (mental disorder) accompanied by fixed persecutory ideas," Dr. R. L. Wynman, specialist, and Dr. R. G. Lovelady announced.

Mr. Hershey was located at Independence, Kan., by his friend, Q. P. Witte, of Birmingham, who received a letter from the missing pastor mailed from Peculiar, Mo., a week ago. Mr. Witte traced Mr. Hershey to Independence, where he found him in a garage awaiting repair of a spring on an automobile he was driving. They reached Birmingham Tuesday from Kansas.

Mr. Hershey's discovery in Birmingham was the first definite word from the missing pastor received in Atlanta since he left this city May 9, presumably to visit his wife and son in the Alabama city. He did not arrive at Birmingham as his congregation and friends here and in Birmingham expected him to, and a widespread search was instituted.

Information from Mrs. Hershey and from the pastor's parents in Kansas led authorities to believe that he was suffering from amnesia and that he would appear either in Birmingham or Kansas when his mind cleared. It was reported that he was a sufferer from amnesia and had disappeared before.

Trunk From Kansas.

A trunk was received in Birmingham the week he disappeared by Mrs. Hershey from Kansas with the tag addressed in the pastor's handwriting. Attempts to locate the missing man in that state failed, however.

Then police reports from Kansas confirmed that Mr. Hershey had been seen in that state. He was identified by persons in Junction City, Kansas, from photographs. He was driving a small coupe with a Missouri license tag, these reports said. When Mr. Hershey was located by Mr. Witte, his car carried a Missouri number, 358-472.

In the meantime a committee had been appointed by the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church to make a complete investigation and aid in every way in locating the pastor. This committee was composed of L. L. Murphy, chairman; C. A. Adair and M. L. Throver.

Mr. Murphy, chairman of the committee, said that the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, to aid in locating Mr. Hershey, when informed last Wednesday night that the missing pastor had been found, said that he had

Secret Tunnels Provided Safety For King Purnell

WITNESS TELLS OF PLANS TO ESCAPE

St. Joseph, Mich., June 1.—(AP)—Defense attorneys for Mrs. Esther Hansel, the state's star witness in the House of David receivership suit, back through her story of immorality, fraud and deceit, today, in an effort to brand her allegations as untrue.

Time after time W. J. Barnard, who conducted the cross-examination, hurlled at her the charge that she was a perjurer when she was in the colony. The witness admitted she "lied for the king" when she was a member of the organization, but insisted she told the truth in the present trial.

New testimony was added to the case already placed in the record by Mrs. Hansel by the defense questions. She charged Purnell had tunnels built so he could escape in time of trouble. One led from Shiloh, his temple house, to a garage where cars were kept in readiness, she declared. The witness told of a secret apartment in the basement to which Benjamin was lowered on at least one occasion.

Queen Mary Purnell knew of Benjamin's abuses of young girl inmates of the colony, Mrs. Hansel averred. She said when she was first called to the stand she was first called to the stand the only way of preventing internal discord in the event of Ferdinand's death.

Health of Wood May Bar Return To Philippines

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Personal friends of Governor General Leonard Wood may seek to prevail upon him not to return to the Philippines after his vacation in the United States.

It developed here today that such efforts, if made, would be based on the state of General Wood's physical condition.

If these friends believe a return to the Philippines would jeopardize his health they will intercede with him to remain in this country. Major General Frank McIntyre, chief of the war department's insular bureau, was emphatic in his denial that there is any official program on foot to supplant Governor Wood at Manila. The general's management of the situation there, he said, has been all that could be desired and, so far as he knew, General Wood's return to the Philippines depended entirely upon his own choice.

In the event of Governor General Wood's resignation, three men have been mentioned prominently as his possible successors. They are Fred Fisher, former member of the supreme court of the Philippines, Carmi Thompson, of Ohio, and Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war.

Girls' High Holds 55th Graduation

Closing of one of the most successful years in the history of the Girls' High school was witnessed Wednesday night in the auditorium-armory when the commencement of the 55th graduation class of the institution was conducted before hundreds of parents, other relatives and friends of the 91 members of the senior class.

Undergraduates of the school, in white dresses and wearing varicolored scarfs, banded the front of the stage with baskets of flowers and the members of the graduating class marched down the center aisle to their places on the stage, which was artistically decorated with palms. The graduates, in white gowns and carrying large bouquets of red roses, formed a beautiful picture of young American womanhood as they took their places, row on row, on the stage.

Announcement of winners of prizes by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, who presided, brought ready applause from those present. Mr. Sutton told of the appreciation felt by his office and the board of education for the help and cooperation given by Miss Jeanne Musc, principal of Girls High school, and the entire faculty during the year just closed.

Boy Scouts of America in uniform acted as ushers and creditably handled the large crowd in a courteous manner.

ORNITHOLOGIST HERE FOR STUDY OF BIRDS

Dr. Arthur H. Howell, Washington, D. C., of the United States Biological survey, will visit Atlanta today in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Earle K. Greene before going to north Georgia for a study of bird life in that section.

Mr. Howell, who recently concluded a survey of bird life in Florida, studied the habits of many species peculiar to the north Georgia mountains during the past winter, and is publishing a review of his findings in the Auk, official organ of the American Ornithologists union.

St. L. and S. F. Dividend.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Directors of St. Louis-San Francisco Railway today declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock and the regular quarterly of $1.75, both payable July 1. Similar distributions were made three months ago.

Atlanta Wins Laurels As Fruit Shipping Center

In addition to being one of the greatest distributing points for staples in the entire south, another laurel was added to Atlanta's crown Wednesday when it was announced that the south's gate city has entered the fruit business on a large scale.

The Southern railroad already has distributed through Atlanta 1,800 cars of a 3,000-car shipment of Cuban and is preparing to handle even larger consignments of sugar, peaches and tomatoes.

Most of the peaches will come from the peach belt of south Georgia, and the tomatoes from Florida.

Pineapple consignments now being distributed through Atlanta are from the West Indian Fruit company, of Cuba, to the same concern of Chicago. A pineapple consignment came in Havana and arrives in Chicago on the same cars 96 hours later unless it is marked "cut out" for other points. In the latter event, it is cut out by switching here and in Cincinnati, diversion points. This is practically express time, since the trains carry 50 cars each and given the right of way over staples. The remaining 1,140 cars will be moved within the next 15 days.

The shipments leave Havana via the Florida East Coast railway to Jacksonville. From that point they are brought to Atlanta and carried to Cincinnati by the Southern and from there complete the trip on the Big Four.

Preparations are being completed to handle 300 cars of peaches a day.

AUDITORS AGREED ON STATE FINANCE

Recommendations concerning several important changes in methods used in Georgia's fiscal affairs, made recently in a report prepared for submission to the legislature by Sam J. Slate, state auditor, are approved by Charles J. Metz, Atlanta accountant, who pointed out Wednesday that he made recommendations almost similar to those of Auditor Slate in a report he filed with the governor of Georgia ten years ago.

"These recommendations were contained in an audit of the state of Georgia which was dated July, 1916, and by references to this report it will be seen that I made similar recommendations at that time," Mr. Metz said.

One of the important recommendations made by Mr. Metz was that all fees and collections received by the departments of state from any source should go into the state treasury and all expenses of the state should be paid therefrom. Mr. Metz made this recommendation and recently Dr. L. G. Hardman, governor-elect, said he heartily approved such a plan.

Urged Budget.
Mr. Metz also recommended that a budget system be adopted.

"A public budget provides a means through which the taxpayers may be assured that their effort is properly used. It is simply a plan of expenditure submitted to the legislature which enables that body to appropriate money intelligently. Without budget methods the state cannot be run properly. On the other hand, no single change would add so largely to the efficiency as the introduction of proper budget methods," was Mr. Metz' recommendation. This was in line with Mr. Slate's recent suggestions.

Both Mr. Metz and Mr. Slate recommended the establishment of a board of audit, a body to have general supervision of the business and financial affairs of the state.

Changes in the methods of purchasing supplies were suggested by both auditors and both said that the method of drawing money from the treasury should be uniform for all state departments.

Another recommendation made by the two auditors was that the counties of the state should be put on a uniform accounting system. It also was recommended that the offices of county tax receivers and county tax collector be consolidated with advantage and saving to the state.

Centralized Records.
"All actual cash of the state, with the exception of petty cash, should be kept in the treasury and the state's bookkeeping should be centralized in the treasury," was a recommendation of Mr. Metz which was similar to a recommendation by the auditor.

It was recommended also that the positions of local oil inspectors be abolished and this work turned over to five or ten inspectors.

Both auditors urged that great care be taken to eliminate frauds in distributing state pensions.

It was recommended by both auditors that the funds collected by the state game and fish department be turned into the state treasury.

"By adopting budget methods, by establishing a board of control and purchasing department, by supervising public officers, by eliminating useless offices, by safeguarding income and by auditing expenditures, the state of Georgia can save hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly and millions every decade," was a recommendation of Mr. Metz which was in line with those of Auditor Slate.

DAMAGE SUIT FOLLOWS COLLISION AT GRIFFIN

Griffin, Ga., June 1.—(Special).—Four damage suits totaling $50,000 were filed against Mrs. Parks Walker, prominent Griffin society woman, in the superior court today. They are the result of an accident May 1, when automobiles driven by Mrs. Walker and R. M. Britt collided, resulting in injuries to Mrs. Britt and her sister, Mrs. J. R. Hancock. The two women were in a critical condition at the Griffin hospital for about a week, but were now able to be up.

Suits were filed for $15,000 each by Mrs. Hancock and Mrs. Britt, claiming they were damaged to that extent as the result of their injuries. Hancock and Britt also filed suits alleging they were damaged to that extent in the loss of the services of their wives as a result of their injuries.

of 12,000 for the entire season. Southern officials said Wednesday. Fifty trains are scheduled to pass through Atlanta each day during the rush season, which will break in about 60 days.

The INSIDE STORY

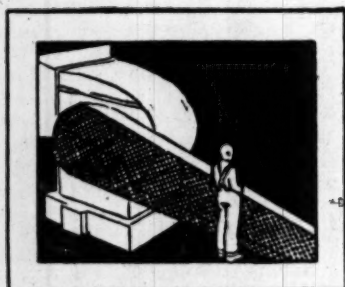

Behind the scenes in one of Atlanta's greatest institutions—
revealing the tremendous amount of equipment required to operate this huge plant, and render efficient service to our customers.

Spiral chute, opening from every floor to the delivery department in basement, insures rapid handling of packages.

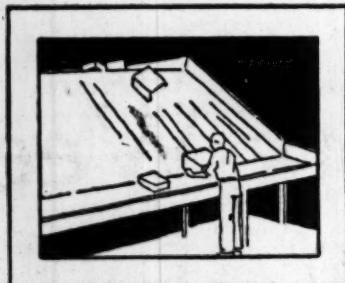

A model hospital, in charge of a graduate nurse, for employees and patrons.

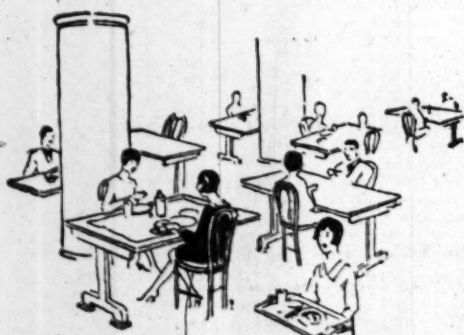

One of the several large exhaust fans which maintain even temperature throughout the building.

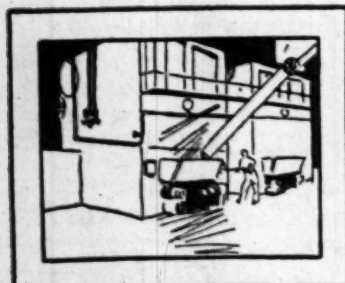

The most complete kitchen you ever saw. Every modern appliance for cooking.

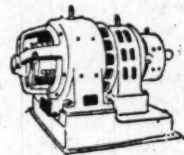

Packages placed in the spiral chute land in the delivery department in the basement.

Main Cafeteria where food is served to our employees at actual cost to us.

Two immense boilers in sub-basement, generate steam for this entire plant.

It would never occur to the casual visitor that there is more electric current capacity in this one building than is required by the city of Rome, Georgia.

One does not realize that it took more than nine miles of brass tubing to install the cash carrier system, or that 6,270 cubic feet of air per minute is required for its operation.

You would not think, without seeing the several powerful blowers and immense exhaust fans, that such tremendous volume of washed and cooled air is required to maintain the delightful atmosphere and even temperature of the store.

It would amaze you to visit the sub-basement, 40 feet below the street level, and see the two giant boilers which generate steam for this immense plant.

One would not suppose that, as an extra precaution against fire hazards, five tanks of 9,000 gallons capacity each would be required to furnish water for the automatic sprinkler system.

These things would not occur to you, perhaps, as a necessary adjunct to a modern retail store. As a matter of fact, but few stores in America can boast of the superb equipment, from ponderous machinery to delicate instruments, employed in the operation of this store.

The facilities we have for rendering service and providing comforts for our customers and employees, is not excelled anywhere.

But it was the original program to make this establishment the most efficient that ingenuity could devise, just as it was to make it the most powerful institution in the South for the economical distribution of merchandise.

These things are not refinements in the sense of being merely desirable or attractive, but are actually essential to present day retail distribution.

The eight electric generators and traction motors which operate the battery of passenger elevators were installed to afford the quickest transportation between the several floors. The automatic electric controls which make it utterly impossible for one of the cars to fall, are provided for your safety.

The refrigerator system, for making ice, preserving foods, and supplying cold water and cool air all over the store, is the last word in refrigeration.

The food you eat, the water you drink, the air you breathe, are kept exactly the right temperature, summer and winter. Even the stock rooms and refrigerator cases for holding candies, condiments, toilet articles and such, are kept in perfect condition by this modern cooling system.

The system of ventilating is superb. Every 30 minutes a complete change of air, filtered and washed, is made throughout the building. The temperature of the store in summer, averages about 12 degrees cooler than on the street.

The vacuum cleaning system for removing dust and dirt from all the floors of the building, the numerous pumps for supplying water to all floors, the automatic signals which immediately register any defect in or interruption to the mechanical units, all function in perfect unison.

A spiral chute, steel construction, extending from the top floor to the basement, carries parcels from all departments to the delivery room, where they are quickly assigned to outgoing trucks.

A chute for disposing of waste paper which accumulates during the day, goes to the incinerator in the sub-basement. Clean paper is put through a machine and shredded, afterwards used for packing fragile articles.

The kitchen in which food is prepared for our own restaurant is a gem in its appointment. Every improved device for cooking and serving has been installed.

The bakery in which all the delicious bread, rolls, pies, pastries and cakes served in our restaurant, is a model of perfection. Our own ice cream plant turns out the rich cream, ices and syrups served at the soda fount and restaurant.

A battery of huge refrigerators keeps both raw and cooked foods at the desired temperature. Even the kitchen waste is frozen as it accumulates, to prevent obnoxious odors in the building.

Also, every provision for the comfort and pleasure of our employees has been provided.

A cafeteria for the white, and one for the colored employees, serve food to them at actual cost.

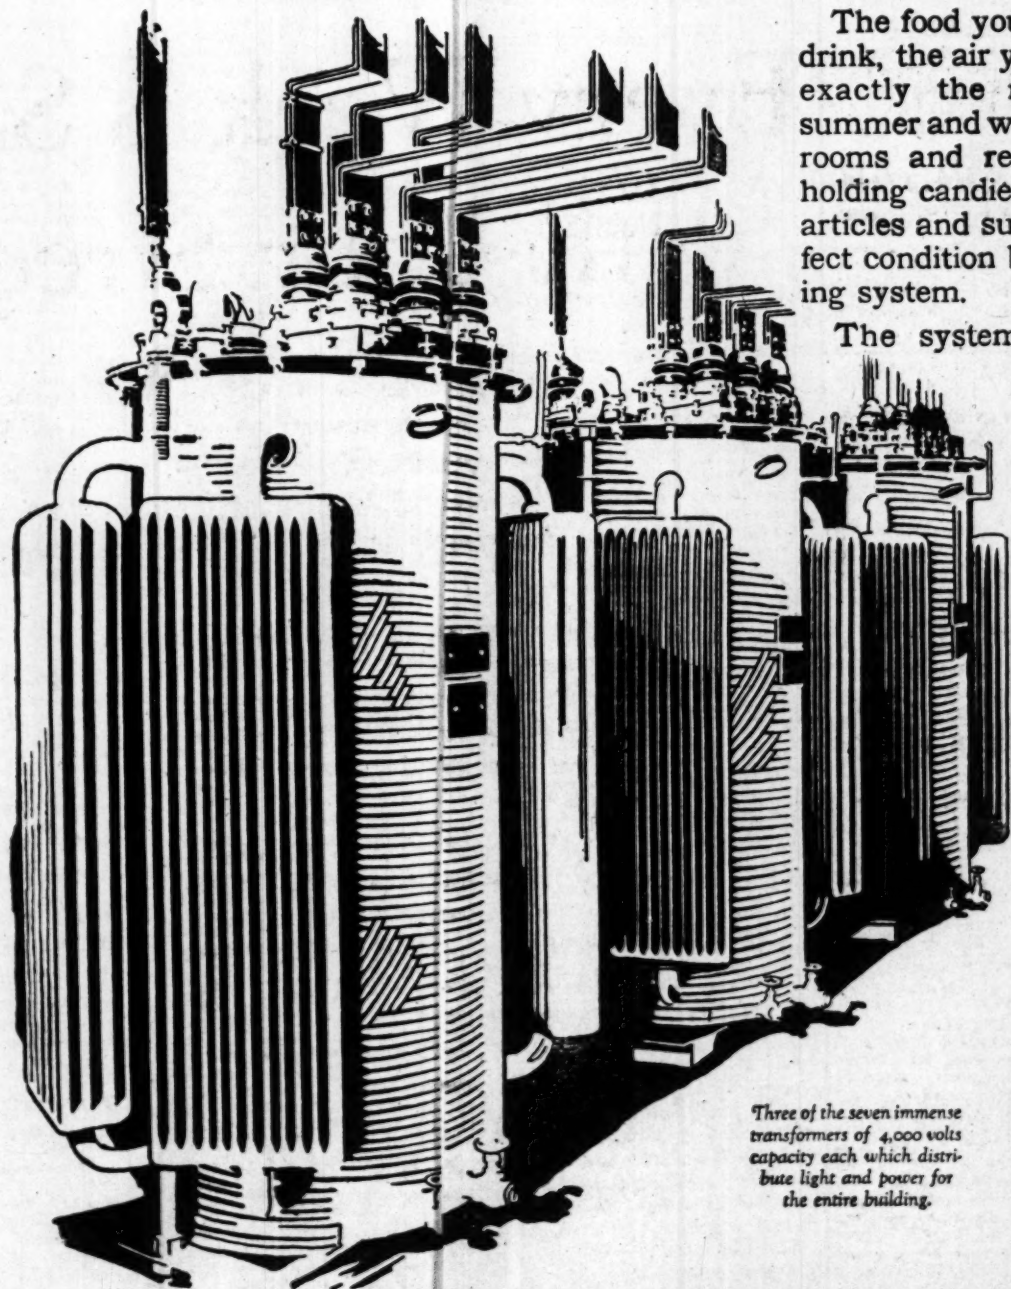

A modern hospital, equipped with several beds and all the latest supplies, in charge of a graduate nurse. An outdoor sleeping porch for convalescents. No charge is made for this service, which is available to customers as well as employees, in emergencies.

A ladies' rest room where employees may spend their daily rest periods in comfort.

A spacious smoking room for the men.

It would interest you to make the journey behind the scenes, of this huge establishment, to see the labor-saving devices we have installed for expediting and economizing in our service. The results of which are reflected in the lowered prices of our merchandise.

We will be glad to conduct parties through this maze of modern equipment, on application at the office of the store manager, mezzanine floor.

Three of the seven immense transformers of 4,000 volts capacity each which distribute light and power for the entire building.

Section of tube room, part of cash carrier system, containing more than nine miles of brass tubing, connecting with every department of the store.

Scholastic Records Broken

Miriam Preston Achieves Highest Ranking Ever Made at College

By Agnes Scott Graduate

The graduating exercises of Agnes Scott college, just over, develop the fact that one of the members of this year's graduating class, Miss Miriam Preston, has made the highest scholarship record ever made at Agnes Scott. Miss Preston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fairman Preston, missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian church, who have been stationed for many years in Korea, where, at Seoul, their daughter was born. She attended Agnes Scott college four years, and has won the most unique distinction ever achieved by a graduate. Her mother, Mrs. Preston, was Miss Annie S. Wiley, of Salisbury, N. C., and an alumna of Agnes Scott. She was present when her daughter received her degree, and became a member of the Phi Beta Kappa.

Upon her graduation, when the announcement was made that Miss Preston had received the highest scholastic record ever achieved in the college, she was overwhelmed with congratulations from her associates and others who were present when this distinguished award was made.

Miss Preston will return to Korea with her father and mother, but she will in all probability return later to Agnes Scott for her M. A. degree.

MISS MIRIAM PRESTON.

Lesson in Courtesy

Toward Police Costs

Atlanta Offender $16

Atlanta police have been instructed by Chief Beavers to deal courteously at all times with the public. It remained for Judge A. W. Callaway in the Recorder's court Wednesday to turn the chief's injunction against a citizen.

The court lectured S. M. Shankle, who gave an Alta avenue address, concerning the impropriety of showing disrespect to an officer of the law after Shankle, it was alleged, tore up a copy of charges and told a policeman he "didn't have to" obey traffic regulations. Judge Callaway's lesson on traffic etiquette cost Shankle $16.

Cuticura Healed.

"I suffered with pimples that covered my face. They itched and burned causing terrible pain. When I scratched them they would scale over, and after washing my face the irritation was terrible. The trouble lasted three or four months. I used other remedies but they were useless. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it there was a great improvement so I purchased more, and in three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Olive Pena, 120 Turbid St., Laredo, Texas, June 1, 1926.

HEARING ON JULY 12

ON TEN-CENT FARES

The petition of the Georgia Power company asking for permission to charge 10 cents car fare in Atlanta and to sell street car tickets at a rate of three for 25 cents, instead of three for 25 cents as at present, will be considered by the state public service commission at a hearing on July 12, it was announced Wednesday by the commission.

The company filed its petition with the commission Tuesday to increase the street car fare from 7 to 10 cents. The request was based, according to the petition, on a plea that the company should be permitted to earn a reasonable return on the valuation of the properties devoted to public use in Atlanta for street railway purposes.

Sam C. Crane, a member of the legislative committee of the United Spanish war veterans, will leave Atlanta this morning to attend the fifth annual encampment of Georgia Spanish war veterans Friday and Saturday, in Columbus, Ga.

Mr. Crane will be one of the principal speakers on the two-day program and will sponsor a movement now in progress to exempt from taxation all houses and personal property of all disabled Spanish war veterans who are now drawing pensions from the United States government. He stated that the move will be an inducement for many war veterans living in other states to come to Georgia and make it their home.

New Radio Idea To Be Launched At Tech Monday

Featuring commencement day exercises of Georgia Tech Monday morning, a new scheme in radio will be exhibited in broadcasting the address of Dr. Francis G. Blewett, president of the National Educational association, and Georgia Tech's commencement day speaker, The Georgia Tech station, WGST, is given to the school by The Constitution.

In addition to broadcasting the commencement day address and the baccalaureate address by President Brittain to the parents and home town friends in 38 states, the audience, seated on the green terrace of the campus, will see and hear the speaker, while at the same time the microphone in front of him will carry his words to the top of the building above him to station WGST, where it will be broadcast through the station to several radio instruments stationed in the audience with attached loud speakers.

The system will have the same effect as the public address system now employed, but will actually go through the radio station only a few hundred feet away and back to the commencement day assembly. In addition to this, the former Constitution station will at the same time be broadcasting over the country the address of the head of the educators of the nation.

The faculty committee working out the plans is composed of Professors T. G. Seidell, Charles C. Shumard, and George M. Sparks.

Dr. Blair, commencement speaker, president of the National Educational association, is superintendent of public instruction of Illinois, which position he has held since 1906. He has been honored by many universities and is the author of "The Educational Policy," "Song and Bird Pageant," "Wreath of Wild Flowers," "Liberty Bell Pageant," "Light Bearer's Pageant" and a volume of educational addresses.

Dr. Samuel G. Senter, pastor of the First Methodist church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at his church Sunday morning.

SAM FINLEY HEADS COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE FOR 1927-8

Sam E. Finley, prominent Atlanta contractor, was elected president of the 1927-1928 Community Chest campaign at a meeting of its officers Tuesday night at the Junior League tea room, while E. A. Wilson-Lawson, publisher of The Georgian, was named general chairman. W. Bayne Gibson served as president of the chest during 1926-1927.

Discussing problems before the chest administration, Mr. Wilson-Lawson called attention to Atlanta's "hordes of peddlers and beggars" who throng downtown sidewalks and help to create an unfavorable opinion of the city's visitors. The speaker advanced the opinion that the Community Chest should seek the cooperation of the chief of police in caring for these individuals and in keeping them off the streets.

Mr. Gibson expressed his thanks for the opportunity of serving as president of the chest, and predicted for the coming year the greatest campaign in the history of the organization.

In addition to election of president and general chairman, other officers were selected as follows: Rodney Morrison, Jr., chairman of the executive committee; Directors (re-elected): J. P. Allen, M. A. Arkin, Eugene R. Black, William Candler, T. H. Daniel, Sam E. Finley, W. Bayne Gibson, Harold Hirsch, H. N. Hutchinson, Edwin E. Johnson, T. W. Law, R. A. Magill, Rodney Morrison, Jr., C. Marvin Underwood, George W. West, Hugh N. Willet, E. A. Wilson-Lawson, New Directors: Hal F. Hentz, W. E. Wardlaw, George J. Yundt, W. R. C. Smith, Frank L. Butler, E. A. Thornwell and Arthur I. Harris.

BUILDING AND LOAN LEAGUE SHOWS GAINS

The second annual report of the Georgia Building and Loan League, released Wednesday, reveals unusual growth experienced by the organization since its founding here in the fall of 1924, with an enrollment of two or three agencies, while league membership today included 20 concerns doing business in all parts of the state.

Some hint of the impetus with which the building and loan idea is gaining ascendancy in other parts of America can be had from the annual report of the Ohio league, which shows an enrollment of more than 1,000,000 subscribers.

May Auto Tags.

The state motor vehicle department issued 11,022 auto licenses during May, bringing the total for the first five months of 1927 to 253,280. It was announced Wednesday. For the same period in 1926, 220,054 licenses were issued. Of the 1927 total, 226,329 licenses were for passenger cars, accompanied with 201,286 during the 1927 period.

The pointer for today is: While a following bid may be made with less strength than an initial bid, it should not be made unless the hand contains greater strength than one quick trick of its equivalent.

Below are the four West hands given yesterday. South has bid one heart, score love-all; what should West declare?

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Athens, Ga., June 1.—(Special).—Officers for the Women's Glee club of the University of Georgia for the 1927-28 session have been elected as follows: President, Miss Alice Rowland, Athens; vice president, Miss Marie Tibbitts, Athens; treasurer, Miss Margaret Fortson, Athens.

No. 10. The Diamond Ace supplies the "quick trick" and the Spade King supplies the "more."

No. 11. The two Kings may be said to be the equivalent of one quick trick, but are certainly not more than the equivalent. If anything they are less. This bid is tempting but too dangerous.

No. 12. With three Kings the hand has more than the equivalent of one quick trick, and the Spade should therefore be bid. Today's hands again are held by West, South having bid one heart; score love-all and the question is what West should declare in each case.

John W. Thomas, young Atlanta lawyer, has waived commitment hearing before United States Commissioner David Meyerhardt on charges of contempt of United States district court, and has been placed under $1,000 bond pending a hearing of the case on June 18 before Federal Judge William J. Tilson, it was learned Wednesday at the federal building.

Contempt of court charges against Thomas are said to have grown out of a bankruptcy case at Dublin, in which he was trustee of the W. T. Smith cotton warehouse at Dublin, this concern having gone into bankruptcy eight years ago with liabilities of about $30,000 and assets of $19,000.

The contempt proceedings were taken when Thomas failed to comply with an order of the court requiring a settlement with creditors within a certain time, it was stated.

MYERS OBTAINS POST WITH BIG CHEMICAL FIRM

Clyde R. Myers, graduating with the 1927 class of Georgia Tech, has obtained a position with the Matheson Alkali works, of Virginia and New York, one of the country's largest manufacturers of heavy chemicals, according to an announcement Wednesday. This is in accordance with Georgia Tech's established custom of sending its men when possible to leading industrial fields all over the nation.

Young Myers, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Myers, of 1377 McLendon avenue, won the distinction while at school of making the highest average ever attained by a student during the first term of the freshman year. In addition to his scholastic works he was pianist, manager and director of the Marionette orchestra for several years and a member of the boxing squad and literary society. He graduated in the chemical engineering course. Myers took a number of honors while attending Tech High school and the Edgewood grammar school.

MAY TOURIST TRAVEL TO CALIFORNIA HEAVY

One transcontinental line, the Santa Fe, carried more than 3,500 passengers from Chicago and Kansas City to California in four May days recently, according to news received at the local office of the Santa Fe from W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager.

To transport this large number—equivalent to an average county seat town—required 31 trains composed of 225 Pullmans, tourist sleepers and chair cars or coaches, and other equipment. Sixty Pullman loads went by way of Grand Canyon National park and the Indian-detrout motor service also was well patronized, it was stated.

Woodruff Is Named University Trustee; Succeeds Simmons

Colonel William E. Simmons, of Lawrenceville, veteran in point of service on the board of trustees of the University of Georgia and for many years chairman of its finance committee, has tendered his resignation and Governor Walker has appointed Robert W. Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola company, to the vacancy thus created in the board membership from the state at large.

Colonel Simmons has served on the board for 32 years, having succeeded the late United States Senator H. V. M. Miller.

In tendering his resignation Colonel Simmons stated that he was actuated to do so solely because his sight has become so defective that it is necessary for him to discontinue the activities of a busy man. Last year while attending a meeting of the board he tripped in going down the stairs of the new alumni building, but what is unusual for a man who has long since passed his three-score years and ten, he quickly climbed on his feet without sustaining injury. He says he then determined to resign before another annual meeting.

He had risen to prominence at the Georgia bar before the war between the states, in which he served with great distinction. After the war he was one of the most active factors in the state in restoring white supremacy, and from that day to this he has been an active participant in all public matters of the state, attaining great eminence as a lawyer and as a financier.

Robert W. Woodruff, who succeeds Colonel Simmons, is a graduate of Emory university, class of 1910. Colonel Simmons, his predecessor, is also a graduate of Emory, being one of its oldest alumni. While not an alumnus of the University of Georgia, he, like Colonel Simmons, is one of its most enthusiastic advocates. He has always been active in behalf of its more liberal support by the state. He married Miss Nell Hodgson, daughter of the late Prince Hodgson, of Athens.

Mr. Woodruff left Atlanta several weeks ago for a trip to South America on business for his company, and when he returns, probably next week, will be greeted with the news of his appointment. He is returning to America via London and it is expected that he will get back in time for the annual meeting of the university trustees in Athens on June 13.

BECK AND GREGG FORCE ATTENDING SALES CONFERENCE

Selling methods and explanation of new lines of merchandise are chief topics of the annual sales conference of representatives of the Beck and Gregg Hardware company, which will continue today Wednesday and will continue through Saturday on the roof of the Cecil hotel.

Twenty-six Beck and Gregg salesmen are in attendance, together with about a score of manufacturers' representatives. Among the latter are Cliff Hendryx, of the E. C. Atkins Manufacturing company; T. H. Keller, vice president and sales manager of the Peters Cartridge company; Frank M. Brewer, advertising manager of the French Battery and Carbon company; J. A. Fugle, sales manager of the Louisville Varnish company, and others. W. A. Parker, president of the Beck and Gregg company, is in charge of the conference.

The entertainment program began Wednesday when Clyde King, president of the Atlanta Flow company, tendered the conference a luncheon and tour through the plant. Wednesday night the E. C. Atkins company was host to the group at a theater party. Tonight the Sheffield-Clark company will give a dinner at the Henry Grady hotel, and Saturday afternoon the Beck and Gregg company will entertain with a barbecue at the Black Root club.

GOVERNOR MAY HOLD SCHOOL TRUSTEESHIP

"Andrew Takes a Wife," is a new play and probably will be produced next winter on Broadway by Charles L. Wagner, as a vehicle for Madge Kennedy and Sidney Blackmer.

Keith's Georgia.

Vaudeville and Pictures. Virginia Bacon, one of the star dancers with the Ned Wayburn "Variety Show" at Keith's Georgia this week, is busy renewing old friendships made when she appeared in Atlanta some time ago. Miss Bacon is the daughter of the late Frank Bacon, who created the part of "Lightnin'" in the play of that name, and is a worthy daughter of an illustrious actor and entertainer. The current attraction is the first of Wayburn's vaudeville ventures.

Loew's Grand.

Vaudeville and Pictures. Headed by two of the foremost funmakers of the country, the Grand and Sam White, who come from a year's engagement at the Vanderbilt theater in New York, the vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand this week, is easily one of the best seen at the Grand. Other popular acts on the bill are the Griffin Twins, "Flaming Youth," the Hemlock singers and the Novelty Clowns. Claire Windsor, William Haines and Harry Carey are stars in "A Little Journey," the picture.

Howard.

Opera vs. Jazz. Frank Cambria, the man who produced the Howard "Taka-Chance" show last fall, is presenting another gigantic Public presentation at the Howard this week. This is the battle of melody, "Opera vs. Jazz," which has caused such a great amount of discussion since its opening on Monday. Boyd Senter, king of syncope, Cy Landry, eccentric dancer and the Foursome quartet are among the featured artists. On the screen, Billy Dove is co-starring with Huntley Gordon in "Sensation Seekers."

Rialto.

"Vanity." An unusually fine assortment of gowns is worn by Leatrice Joy in her current starring production, "Vanity," now at the Rialto theater. The series of charming frocks, wraps, negligees and dinner gowns which Miss Joy wears in "Vanity" were designed by Adrian. Donald Crisp directed "Vanity."

West End.

"Paradise for Two." Richard Dix is starring today and tomorrow at the popular West End picture house in one of his best-liked romances, "Paradise for Two." In "Paradise for Two" Dix is said to reach new heights as leading man in the comedy-romance which is best-liked by the audience and the usual other numbers.

Fairfax.

"Prisoners of the Storm." If you enjoy thrilling, virile stories of the north woods, there is a great treat in store for you Thursday when one of James Oliver Curwood's great stories, "Prisoners of the Storm" will be shown. The dramatic story of a dramatic struggle between a man and a woman, "Prisoners of the Storm" is a powerful picture with a triple love story and the biggest mountain slide movie ever staged.

Tenth Street.

"Man o' War." A new story of the war, vibrant with thrill and laughs, will be offered the movie fans of Tenth Street today when "Her Man o' War" will be shown. This picture is a war picture of a vastly different type to those ordinarily shown on the screen. The scenes are laid behind the lines, and while the characteristics are reminiscent of war, no battle scenes are shown.

Palace.

"Wolf's Clothing." Today Monte Blue will be featured in "Wolf's Clothing," the sensational murder mystery drama that was held over for two weeks at the Roxy theater, one of the world's largest movie houses. This is an unusually good melodrama produced in lavish atmosphere. It relates the adventures of a young subway guard and a society girl, both on a wild night party. They are having a whale of a time when they run into a crook mystery that carries them into a whirlwind of melodramatic excitement.

Entries Must Be in Friday For "Opportunity Contest"

STAGE ENGAGEMENT FIRST PRIZE

Friday is the deadline, girls, the zero hour in the Constitution's big "Opportunity Contest." Young talent for the stage and all girls who want to enter this contest and get a chance of winning one of the big prizes must send in photographs by that date. First prize is a 19-week engagement with "Young America," Public Theater production to be presented in New York July 9.

Up to date many girls of Atlanta have entered the contest and a special audition has been arranged for these girls and others who want to enter, to be held Friday morning at the Howard theater. This will give girls who can sing, dance or play musical instruments an opportunity to get a tryout before the judges appear before an audience. The regular auditions will be held during the week of June 5 to 11 at the Howard theater, and finals will be held Friday night, June 11.

The winner of the Atlanta contest will play the part of Miss Atlanta in the production of "Young America," which will tour 19 cities in which Public theaters are located. She will receive a salary of $75 a week for this tour, which aggregates nearly $1,500. Girls between the ages of 18 and 25 who are unmarried are eligible to enter the contest.

Girls who have no late photograph can go to Stephenson's studio in the Connolly building and have photographs made free for the contest. A layout of these photographs, all of them made by R. R. Jennings, of Stephenson's studio, appeared in The Constitution last Sunday and another set of pictures will be printed next Sunday.

When the photographs are sent in to the Constitution girls should write on the back their names, age, height, weight and the kind of theatrical work they can do.

Second prize in the contest is $100 in cash; third prize $50 in cash, and fourth prize $25 in Public chex. These prizes will be given in addition to the grand prize which is the 19-week engagement at $75 a week. In a similar contest staged last year by The Constitution, Miss Trinx Jackson was the winner and she is now playing a successful engagement at New York theater.

Just two more days, girls. Send in that photograph right now.

Skyscraper Fears No Quake, Says Visiting Engineer

BY HERB MCUSKER.

Earthquake tremors such as that which on Wednesday rocked New York and adjacent points of the eastern seaboard will find the American skyscraper well prepared to meet them, says a visiting engineer who has just returned from a tour of inspection of the new skyscraper in Tokyo, Japan, in September, 1923. Colonel Starrett, who is now in Atlanta, is the chief engineer of the Starrett Brothers, Inc., construction engineers, erected and of which concern he is vice president.

Colonel Starrett was deeply interested in reports from the earthquake locality. "The Tokyo disaster of 1923 taught us many things in connection with the erection of skyscrapers," he said. "And the most pertinent of these is that the steel building of American design is the only practical one for those districts subjected to earth disturbances."

"As will be remembered, in Tokyo buildings crumbled like stacks of matches but the American type building, of which unfortunately there were but few, rocked with the quakes, cracked in few spots but was still standing in the end and when the disturbance ceased. Since that lesson was brought home so forcibly, the construction engineers of this country have benefited and in the event of a similar 'quake' the loss of life and property will be reduced to a minimum."

Building Progress. Building construction in the United States this year promises to be as enormous as was the case in 1926.

Colonel Starrett said in commenting upon business conditions throughout the country. "Construction figures are the index to the country's prosperity," he said. "Today we are progressing on a $6,000,000,000 building program, which no doubt will be as large or larger than the 1926 program. A nation-wide investigation has shown us that if there is recession in certain localities, that recession is purely local and has little effect on the country as a whole."

"Mr. Perry Straus, vice president of the R. H. Macy company, affiliated with the Davidson-Paxon company, has accompanied me here to make a final inspection of the unique 'air conditioning' facilities of the building."

While in the city, Colonel Starrett intends visiting Camp Gordon, which was erected under his supervision as head of the emergency construction commission, council of national defense, during the world war. He also built all other cantonments in that emergency and had complete control of a similar government building program in this country. He will be 41 years old on the 14th of this month, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, class of 1895, and resides in Madison, N. J.

Humidity Removed. "By virtue of this 'air conditioning' process, the pure air is drawn through a gigantic dehumidifier. The air is changed every seven minutes throughout the building—including the new theater."

Accompanying Colonel Starrett and Mr. Straus are Edward A. Wise, an associate of the Straus interests; Edward E. Ashley, engineer for the Starrett-Van Vleck company, architects who designed the building; and Robert W. McChesney, representative of the electrical contracting firm.

Alert photographers stationed along the Irish coast caught Lindbergh's ship as he was received by French throngs, also some of the subsequent festivities.

An airplane with the Pathé films left New York Tuesday morning and was expected at Candler field Tuesday night. However, the plane encountered thunder squalls en route and was forced down at Augusta, resuming the flight Wednesday morning.

MRS. A. J. BROWNLEE FUNERAL THURSDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. A. J. Brownlee, 60, of 805 Virginia circle, wife of the late A. J. Brownlee, prominent Atlanta business man, who died Wednesday morning at a private hospital, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock from the chapel of H. M. Paterson and Son, The Rev. Henry B. Maye and the Rev. S. A. Cowan will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Brownlee was a native of Rome, Ga., and came to Atlanta about 25 years ago. She was a member of the Human Park Methodist church. About three weeks ago she fell and sprained her hip. She was said to be recovering from the fall when she fell again last Tuesday. The shock from the second fall, according to doctors, caused complications from which she died Wednesday.

Mrs. Brownlee is survived by one son, Robert F. Brownlee.

Requisition Issued.

Governor Walker Wednesday issued a requisition of the governor of Texas for the return to Mitchell county, Georgia, of Earl S. Hurst, indicted in 1922 for larceny after trust and forgery. Sheriff C. D. Crow of Camilla, was appointed by the governor to go after Hurst.

CECIL JAMISON NAMED FOR HIGH HONOR AT TECH

Award of the Alpha Kappa Psi key, given each year to the student in the commerce department of the Georgia School of Technology selected by the faculty as being the best all-round man, was made Wednesday to Cecil Jamison, of Atlanta.

Mr. Jamison made his letter in track, football and basketball, and is a member of a number of honor societies, including Kappa, Building and Alpha Kappa Sigma, and the student council. He is also a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Paul Fitzpatrick, of Maysfield, Ky., was announced as winning the Scottish Rite medal, awarded by the Scottish Rite bodies in Atlanta through the English department of Tech for the best essay by a freshman. Second and third mention went to G. S. Ober, of Atlanta, and Tom Rollow, of Wynnewood, Okla., respectively.

Commencement exercises begin Sunday morning with the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Samuel T. Senter, pastor of the First Methodist church. Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, will deliver more than 300 diplomas Monday morning following the baccalaureate address by Dr. Francis G. Blott, president of the National Educational association.

Junior and senior proms and the annual Pan-Hellenic dances will be part of the social features of the latter part of this week.

Gottschaldt-Humphrey Directs Advertising Of Augusta Chamber

An Atlanta advertising agency, Gottschaldt-Humphrey, Inc., has been selected to direct advertising of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce. Augusta recently raised a fund of $50,000, of which approximately $30,000 is to be spent to advertise the city's industrial and resort advantages.

According to dispatches from Augusta, the advertising commission selected Gottschaldt-Humphrey, Inc., only after conferring with 15 representative advertising agencies representing cities from Philadelphia south. The Atlanta concern finally chosen is also in charge of the Macon Chamber of Commerce advertising, another outstanding national publicity campaign.

Office of Gottschaldt-Humphrey, Inc., are in the Palmer building and Allan C. Gottschaldt and Warren A. Humphrey are principals of this agency which is serving some 26 of the south's leading advertisers.

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

INSTALLMENT XLVI.

PIERS LEARNS SOMETHING.

So it was Alan Brooke again, was it? She'd been with Brooke last night, alone with him making escape under cover of the carnival, to indulge this morbid infatuation of hers for that fellow who called himself a sculptor. Piers' jealousy suddenly took on a stealthy quality and in consequence he became amazingly secretive. Later on he would have something to say to Brooke and also to Sophy; perhaps to both of them together if he could catch them. That was the idea—catch them together and then whatever he did, the law wouldn't be too hard on him. But he knew he had to go softly to accomplish his purpose; he knew he was up against a deadly species of craft. If only he could control his own feelings sufficiently to lead Sophy to believe that he was not impressed by her womanhood.

Yet he knew, also, that he must make some show of being annoyed, if only because she had made so light of his authority in sneaking off to the casino last night. Piers had a great deal to do that day, but his heart was not in the business. He left as much as he could of the police to the sergeant, and soon after lunch—at which he had preserved the suavely cold demeanor of an injured husband—he betook himself up to the Casa Verana, with the intention of insulting Alan Brooke about the slow progress which had been made on Sophy's bust. Brooke would probably be arrogant, and that would provide an excellent reason for breaking off negotiations and forbidding the fellow to come near the house again.

When Piers reached the little studio, however, Alan was not in, so he sat down to wait in the narrow strip of garden where, at his request, Cristina brought him some brandy. In an indefinite way, there was an air of departure about the place. A half-filled packing case stood in the small portico and most of the iron chairs had been stacked in a broken-down summer house.

"Are you going away, Mrs. Brooke?" Piers asked, giving Cristina a confidential look.

"Me—I am going, yes," Cristina replied.

"Not your husband, eh?"

Cristina shrugged her shoulders.

"We do not go together, signor. Me—I have property in Pergarda. I must look to it; and my little son, he comes with me. The signor, he has other affairs. Perhaps he goes to Paris—I do not know."

Piers sat forward, his glass of brandy poised in air.

"Ha!" he exclaimed. "And your husband goes to Paris, or wherever he does go, alone?"

Cristina cast down her eyes. She looked tragically sad, but there was about her an air of reserve sufficiently noticeable to be observed by Piers.

"I do not know, signor," she replied meekly.

Then she raised her eyes and once again there was flashed to Piers that telegraphic glance, the true significance of which he had missed the first time it happened. But he did not miss it now. He made a cumbersome attempt at facetiousness.

"Come, come, Mrs. Brooke! Don't tell me you're telling that—that famous man of yours run off all by himself?"

"I don't know, signor. Perhaps he does not go by himself. How am I to say? O, signor Tancred, don't you know? Can't you stop them?"

Piers went blue to the lips. So it had come to this, had it? All the time, in spite of reason, he had been dallying with the hope that he'd made the colossal mistake of his life.

"I guess you mean my wife, don't you?" he said hotly.

"But you must have known," Cristina protested. (Had she broken the vow of obedience of which Alan had reminded her so sharply? No, because as yet she hadn't said anything about that impassioned embrace.)

Piers gulped down his brandy and reached for the decanter with a shaking hand.

"He told me—my husband—that he and the signora, your wife, had been friends, perhaps lovers in the long ago," Cristina said.

"Ha!" commented Piers. (So he had been right when he guessed that.)

"Lovers? you say?"

"He did not deny it," Cristina said quietly.

"Something must have parted them. Signor, I beg of you not to mention this. I should not have spoken. It was very wrong of me. But signor, I could not help it. Last night was the last straw. They met at the casino and did not return until dawn. There is something here—here in my breast—that hurts so cruelly. Day and night I am like an ache in my heart. I have lost him—he does not care for me any more. Indeed, he never cared for me, as I know now. Is it wrong that I should wish to keep him when he loves me? You see, he is mine, is he not? And she—she belongs to you. Is it wrong for you and me to keep what belongs to us?"

Piers half rose, breathing hard; then sat down again so heavily that the little iron chair gave a warning creak. Cristina's mark of tragedy changed to an expression of triumph subtly mingled with alarm. She had roused this Signor Tancred—who was a man if ever there was one—but had she been wise?

"Perhaps I have imagined things," she said quickly. "It may be that my husband is going away alone."

"You bet he's going away alone," Piers retorted. His heavy hands closed and unclosed; he had another go at the brandy, and then he made a second and more successful attempt to get up.

"Here's a check for the wine. Tell him we don't want him at the Villa Mona any more, unless he likes to come down to ask me why I'd better go now. I've got to go to think things over. Don't say anything about our little talk, but trust me."

"O, signor, I must trust you. No, I won't say anything—only that the signora is not to sit any more." Cristina took the check and could not forbear a glance at it.

All of a sudden it seemed to her that matters had become simplified, unless this Signor Tancred, whom she so much admired, didn't prove altogether more of a man than was strictly necessary.

"Signor, all will be well if you keep the lovely signora, your wife, safely under your care."

"Don't you worry," Piers said.

Piers plunged down the slippery mule path, careless and clumsy, and with red in his eye.

Sophy and Lilla Brent were in the long pergola with embroidery work, and the tea table stood waiting upon Piers' arrival. Sophy hadn't known he had gone out, even, for he was supposed to have been napping.

"O, here you are!" exclaimed Lilla. "We were wondering if you heard the tea bell. Did it wake you up? How hot you look, Piers."

"Do I? Yes, I'm awake, all right."

Pointedly he ignored Sophy, who poured his tea.

"Your cup, Piers," she reminded him.

Then he looked at her, finally, but made no move to take the cup. Instead he just stared, as though seeing her for the first time in his life and as a hideous monstrosity. Lovely, fragile Sophy, in sleeveless white with her pearls hanging from her neck, and the smooth, slender curve of her arm down to that little wrist, where a blue vein throbbled unsteadily; Sophy, with her serene smile and saucer in that delicate hand of hers, offering it to him. Ah! . . . and there was fear and shrinking in her eyes.

"Piers, don't you want your tea?" she asked.

GORE CONFIDENT OF BEING SAVED

Milledgeville, Ga., June 1.—(AP)—With but approximately 40 hours between him and eternity, Mel Gore, who is sentenced to die in the electric chair some time Friday is confident that he will be saved from going to his death, despite the fact that he is aware that every legal recourse opened to his attorneys has been exhausted.

While in his death cell tonight, which is but 10 feet from the death chamber, Gore was in a jovial mood as he listened to a quartet composed of "buddies" with whom he was confined in the Fulton tower, which gathered outside his cell and held a singing jubilee. Singing old numbers like "Some Day, Sweetheart," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "Forgive Me," the quartet sought to cheer their comrade. Just before the program concluded Gore requested the quartet to sing "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." The comradely youth was a member of the quartet when he was confined in Atlanta. He did not join in the singing until the singers rendered his requested number and then he joined in the chorus.

Gore's only display of nervousness as to his impending fate is his incessant smoking. He states that he has no trouble in sleeping and that he is enjoying his stay at the farm but will be glad when he gets back to his comrades in the Fulton tower.

"I feel more certain than ever before that something will intervene to prevent my electrocution Friday," the youth said tonight. "I have nothing to base that hope on, I know, but something inside tells me not to worry, so I don't. I appreciate how good everybody has been to me and if I do have to forfeit my life, why then I am ready to go."

Gore stated that he expected a visit from his wife and three-year-old daughter, Marilyn, sometime Friday.

an's Bible class of the Druid Hills Methodist church, and Mrs. J. F. Edens, local welfare worker. The governor stated without qualification that he will not interfere with the imposition of the death sentence. He said numerous requests had been made to him to commute Gore's sentence but stated that he would not interfere because a "misuse of executive clemency encouraged criminals to expect leniency when they are convicted of crimes."

Gore is prepared to meet death although he still holds hopes that something will happen to interfere with the execution, according to dispatches from Milledgeville. He is under guard of Deputy Sheriffs R. T. Tolbert and Charlie Griffin, of Fulton county. They reported that Gore went to sleep soon after his arrival at the state prison in Milledgeville.

Gore was convicted of complicity in the killing of W. H. Cheek, Buckhead grocer, on Christmas eve, of 1925. With him were also convicted T. R. Berry and Ruby Ray, a Fulton county girl. Berry was a n a life sentence and the Ray girl was given a long term in the state prison.

Fennell to Die With Gore. Herbert Fennell, a negro of Liberty county, is doomed to be executed at the same time as Gore. The negro was convicted of killing his wife. The state prison commission will hold a meeting Thursday to hear appeals for a commutation made in behalf of this negro.

Mrs. W. H. Cheek, wife of the victim of Gore and his confederates, issued a statement Wednesday in which she said that she had not given her approval to any movement looking to a commutation of the death sentence of Gore.

Gore was taken to the state prison by the deputy sheriffs in an automobile which left Atlanta at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

to let him have it the moment he drew up alongside. When he got almost on us, he stopped—and saved his life." Although Dean did not mention the fact, it was through Jones that police obtained a description of the bandits' car.

The Nitroglycerine Seare.

The robbers proceeded to Phenix, Ala., Dean said. "While we were going through that town, two cops stopped us to search for a young girl who had been kidnapped a few hours earlier. It looked like a tough break for us. The cops stuck their heads in the car and asked us what we had. On the seat of the car was a satchel with a bottle full of nitroglycerine in it. A label on the bottle read: 'Shake well before using.' Well, that cop held the bottle up to the light and took a squint while we squirmed in our seats. Then we almost cut and ran for cover when he calmly shook the bottle and looked at the contents to see if it had 'whisky heads.' 'I have run if I hadn't been so blamed scared,' Dean, apparently relieved by unburdening his secret, told officers he was sorry for having made Miss Carroll lie down on the floor while the robbery was being conducted. "I was afraid he might get hit if any shooting started," he said. Miss Carroll, who resides on Flat Shoals avenue, has since severed connections with the bank.

While police were investigating Dean's confession, Detectives John Lowe and Jack Malcolm were in Kelly prison questioning Brooks and Kelly, Chief Poole said Wednesday. Both are said to have long prison records.

A "Daylight Job."

The East Atlanta bank robbery occurred a few days before last Christmas. It was a "daylight job," the robbers walking into the bank shortly before closing hour at 3 o'clock and flashing pistols on the cashier and two clerks. They made away with $4,000 in currency and $864 in silver and gold.

First intimation that Dean was involved in the robbery came through a "hot tip" which led officers to Hawkinsville, Ga., according to Chief Poole. It was information gleaned on this trip that caused Dean to make his confession, Poole says.

Dean will complete his sentence on the motor vehicle act violation in November. He still faces a charge of parole violation, but it was generally believed that the bank robbery charge will supersede this. The new charge will be taken before the Fulton county grand jury at that body's next session, Chief Poole said.

Mr. Murphy said that no action had been taken to obtain a pastor to supply Mr. Hershey's pulpit and that the status of the pastor had not changed in so far as the church was concerned since the day he disappeared.

Soon after the disappearance of Mr. Hershey it was announced that he had received a letter from a former inmate of a Birmingham reformatory which he construed to be threatening. Mr. Hershey was chaplain at this institution as well as pastor of the

TAXES, FLOOD GET RIGHT OF WAY

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Tax reduction and flood relief and control legislation will be given the right of way at the next session of congress. Speaker Longworth declared today after a conference with President Coolidge.

Mr. Longworth assured the president that the house would be "in hearty sympathy with plans for aiding Mississippi river disaster sufferers and for measures to prevent such disasters in the future."

Pending further studies by house committees, the speaker would make no definite prediction on the extent either of tax reductions or of flood relief legislation.

While it will be impossible for the house flood control committee to meet as a committee prior to the convening of congress in December, the speaker said he would expect present members of that committee to sit with the senate commerce committee when it conducts hearings on flood relief in order that the house members will be able to act immediately when the senate officially names its flood control committee.

OPERATING COST OF U. S. CLIMBS

New York, June 1.—The cost of government in the United States is still climbing.

The total of all expenditures of federal, state and local government authorities and inclusive of capital outlays and debt retirements for the year 1925 reached $11,124,000,000, as against $10,983,000,000 in 1924 and $2,919,000,000 in 1913.

The increase over the previous year, according to the national industrial conference board, which has just completed the survey, was wholly due to the rising expenditures of state and local governments, which set a new high mark in 1925.

The federal government disbursed $356,000,000 less in 1925 than the year before, the board found, but state, municipal and other local governmental agencies increased expenditures by nearly $500,000,000.

Federal, state and local governments during 1926 collected $8,499,000,000 in taxes, the highest figure since the post-war inflation peak of 1921.

State and local governments during 1926 collected the greatest total of taxes in their history, $1,208,000,000 going to the states and $4,084,000,000 into the treasuries of municipal, county, school boards and other authorities.

'HIRED SLAYER' WAS DETECTIVE

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—A man the police allege was hired as a "professional killer to dispose of Joseph Apolonio, 45, owner of the Capital Sheet Metal works, has turned out to be a detective and Dr. Dee Hammer, a chiropractor, who is said to have done the hiring, and Mrs. Apolonio are in jail charged with conspiracy.

Robert F. Langdon, the detective, won Dr. Hammer's confidence, according to the authorities, by posing as a Buffalo gunman and he declared he was engaged by the chiropractor to kill Apolonio last night. He exhibited notes amounting to $1,100 which he said Hammer gave him to do the job. The authorities are holding for investigation a man giving the name of Dr. Vernon Ernest Gelston who they declared introduced Langdon to Hammer last Friday.

According to Langdon's story, Hammer asked him "to knock off" Apolonio in a manner so as to make the "murder" appear an accident, after Gelston had approached him asking if he knew of any one who would "put a man out of the way." Details of the act were carefully worked out, the police allege, but when the time for the killing arrived, arrests instead of murder were precipitated.

The authorities charged that Mrs. Apolonio conspired with Hammer but Langdon declared she was not present during any of the alleged conversations regarding the murder.

Bryant-Townley

Marriage Is Held
In Inman Park

A marriage of w. a social interest was that of Miss Frances Bryant, daughter of James William Bryant, to James Richard Townley, which was quietly solemnized Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's father on Cleburn avenue, Inman Park.

Only the members of the families of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Dr. Wallace Rogers, pastor of Trinity Methodist church.

A profusion of pink gladioli and sweet peas artistically combined with ferns and garden flowers formed the decorations for the handsome home.

Miss Maude Bryant, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and was her only attendant, wearing an attractive model of Romaine crepe in a delicate shade of rose, which was beautifully matched with a small hat of hand-plaited straw. Her bouquet was of lavender and pink sweet peas.

Samuel McDaniel, of LaGrange, acted as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a becoming ensemble suit of monkey-skin colored crepe with hat to match, and carried a shawl bouquet of valley lilies.

Mrs. John M. Townley, mother of the groom, wore a summer model of white chiffon and a corsage of lavender sweet peas.

An informal breakfast was served following the ceremony, after which Mr. Townley and his bride left for a motor trip through the mountains of North Carolina. Upon their return they will make their home with the groom's mother, 1281 Fairview road, Druid Hills.

The bride, a representative of prominent Georgia and New York families, is the daughter of the late Mrs. J. W. Bryant, formerly Miss Bauda Barnard, who was the daughter of the late Francis Barnard, of Westchester, N. Y. The bride's maternal grandmother was prior to her marriage, Miss Frances Coyle, of Warren, Ga.

Of cordial interest to a large circle of friends was the wedding Wednesday evening of Miss Ann Louise Felton to Neil Hamilton Cheek, which took place at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Leroy Madison Felton, on Jefferson place in Decatur, in the presence of the families and a few intimate friends.

The lower floor of the home formed a setting for the marriage with soft lights and a quantity of summer flowers used in the artistic decorations. In the living room an improvised altar was made of palms and baskets held sweet-peas and ferns. In the background were two candelabra with lighted tapers.

The bride and groom entered together and were met at the altar by the Rev. Wm. T. Bodenhammer, who used the ring ceremony. Of unusual distinction was the fact that this was the first marriage ceremony performed by this young minister.

Mrs. Bradley Continues Drive For City Woman's Title

Medalist Eliminates Mrs. Williams, 5-4

Misses Rosalie Mayer, Margaret Maddox and Jimmie Pattillo Go Into Semi-Finals Today.

BY WHITNER CARY.

The early morn of Wednesday saw 22 hopeful feminine golf stars start the long trek over the hills, dunes, traps and lakes of the East Lake course in the first round of the annual city championship. A few hours later a pitiless noon-day sun saw nine of the 22 cross the "Bridge of later a pitiless noon-day sun saw eight of the 22 cross the "Bridge of of golfing massacres ringing in their ears.

For with the exception of three matches, that first round of the tournament is best described by the word massacres. Maybe the winners were keenly on edge. Maybe they caught their opponents slightly off form, and maybe the heat of the June day inspired them to go into competition with the sun in an attempt to blister both the course and their luckless opponents. At any rate, the result in all but three cases was not decisive and the golf exhibited by the winners augurs for sparkling encounters in the other rounds.

When the final barrage had been let loose and the last casualty had been recorded, it was found that Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Miss Rosalie Mayer, Miss Jimmie Pattillo and Miss Margaret Maddox entered the semi-final brackets of the first flight, while Mrs. Roy Burns, Mrs. Tommie Wilson, Mrs. W. D. Donk and Mrs. C. F. Humphrey occupied similar places in the second flight. Mrs. John S. Hill, Mrs. M. S. Mentzer, Mrs. Eleanor MacAvillie and Mrs. Gallencamp are the occupants of the semi-finals in the third flight.

Mrs. Clarence Bradley, who is one of the favorites to catch the crown as the winner of theundefeated head of Mrs. Helen Darzan Lowndes, the present champion, shot a most impressive round against Mrs. T. T. Williams. The feminine siege gun of Ansley Park was spanned by her usual drives and was following these hefty clouts with a show of accurate iron play and skillful putting that was unobtainable for even the golf goddess Mrs. Williams was displaying.

Mrs. Bradley started out in rather uncertain fashion, halving the first hole with an impressive six. She quickly unlimbered her heavy graminet, however, and annexed the second to tie, a lead that she never relinquished. She was four up at the seventh, but the traps No. 8 and at the lake at No. 9 proved pitiless enemies and she lost the last two of the outgoing journey to turn two up, but with a medal card of 44 which gave some slight indication of the golf she was firing.

The pace set by the Ansley Park siege gun was even more blistering of her own. This star finished the outward trip in 44 and during the exhibition was off the fairway on but one occasion. It was off that was too brilliant for Mrs. L. W. Grenade, who, against a player of Mrs. Grenade's known ability gives some slight indication of the speed. Miss Pattillo continued her splendid play on the back side and the match

Curzon's Call Boy Captures Epsom Derby

Slim Lindbergh Proves Counter Attraction at England's Premier Turf Event.

BY CLIFFORD L. DAY, United News Staff Correspondent.

Epsom, Eng., June 1.—The best Epsom derby in a score of years, combining good weather, a record throng and a fast, thrilling race, which was won by the favorite, Frank Curzon's Call Boy, was witnessed Wednesday by the British royal family, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh and more than 500,000 excited spectators.

When the favorite, whipped home by Jockey Elliott in a stirring stretch drive, flashed past the winning post two lengths to the good in the fastest time ever recorded in this classic English race, half a million persons crowded in the new steel grandstands scattered over the rolling downs around the Curzon colt the greatest demonstration ever given a derby winner.

A comparative handful which did not cheer Call Boy's triumph comprised the bookmakers, who were hard hit as a result of the race, for Sir Philip Sassoon's Hot Night, second choice in the betting, came in second, with the well-backed Shian Mor, owned by Major J. S. Courtland, third.

Slim Lindbergh, temporarily eclipsed in the public's enthusiasm over the favorite's victory, was the slim, smiling aviator who had flown the Atlantic. Only a few in the tremendous throng caught a glimpse of Captain Lindbergh, who stood with American Charge D'Affaires Frederick Sterling in a grandstand box near the finish.

The 127 derby was Call Boy's race from start to finish. Just before the horses went to the post a thin mist lifted and most of the crowd had a good view of the springing of the barrier.

A fast track, unmarred by rain, favored the winner.

The start was good, except for the filly Stampede, purchased the day before by the Dowager Marchioness of Queensbury, which was tailed off. Elliott got Call Boy out in front in the first mad scramble for position, and the favorite never was headed. T. Weston, on Lord Derby's Sickle took up the chase, followed by Flashing Star, Restigouche, Adam's Apple, Lone Knight and Hot Night, in that order.

Holds Lead.

Coming down the hill, Call Boy led by a length, from Shian Mor, Sickle and Adam's Apple. As they swept around the dangerous Tattenham corner, the order was Call Boy, Shian Mor, Sickle, Hot Night, Knight of the Grail and Buckfast.

In the stretch Elliott called upon Call Boy and the favorite responded, standing off repeated challenges to win, going away, in the record time of 2:34 2/5. The best previous time for the Epsom derby was 2:34 3/5, made by Lord Woolavington's Captain Cattle in 1922.

The winner paid 4 to 1, while odds against Hot Night were 9 to 2 and against Shian Mor 22 to 1.

$800,000 Cleaned Up by Man With $3.75 Race Stub

LONDON, June 1.—(United News.)—An investment of 15 shillings (approximately $3.75) in a ticket for the famous Epsom Derby sweepstakes won for a dental mechanic named Kilpatrick, who lives in far-away Cape Town, South Africa, first prize of $800,000 as a result of Call Boy's victory in the Epsom Derby.

Kilpatrick, a bachelor, who is understood to have relatives in the United States, sold a half interest in his ticket when he found he had drawn the favorite. He received $50,000 from a syndicate for half his investment, and an additional $445,000 from the organizers of the sweep.

The holder of the Ticket on Hot Night, which ran second in the derby, will receive $400,000, while $200,000 awaits the owner of the ticket on the third horse, Shian Mor.

William Jones, 60, a commercial traveler for the Wellington Tube Works, of Tipton, Staffordshire, won first prize of $25,000 in the London Stock Exchange sweepstakes. His, too, had sold a share in his ticket when it was found that he had been lucky enough to draw the favorite.

Girl Scout Turns Over Dope Bucket

New York, June 1.—(P.)—A five-year-old girl named Girl Scout, owned by J. P. Waggoner, provided a big upset today by showing her heels to a fast field in the $5,000 Washington Park handicap at Homewood, Ill.

The mare's low rating gave her a handicap burden of only 104 pounds and Jockey Cooper made the most of it, lifting his game mount into the lead at the start, stride for stride with the odds-on favorite, Prince of Wales. On the stretch the Prince weakened under his impost of 129 and finished third with Sanela second.

At Belmont Park, the apprentice jockey, Goodwin, brought McAvillie home ahead of 5 to 1 in the Harlem claiming stakes.

The An Revolt handicap at Church Hill Downs rang down the curtain on the spring meeting at that famous Kentucky track. Creek Indian under light weight and Jockey Smith won the seven-furlong dash ahead of Collogomor and Percentage.

ALL-STAR POLO TEAM ROUNDS INTO SHAPE

The All-Stars are lighting up. And the crank is being turned handily. The All-Stars are made up of officers at Fort McPherson and others, who are planning to turn over the Horseguard of Elzoner Clifford Walker, governor of Georgia, and spank them soundly at Fort Mac Sunday.

It would be quite a spectacle for the Governor's Horseguard to get spanked publicly—perhaps—but the All-Stars are planning on providing such fast company that it would be considerably less than dishonor to be spanked by them.

Lieutenant L. G. Smith, a member of last year's army junior championship team and carrying a national handicap of three goals, will be one addition to the All-Stars.

Bill Meadows, of San Antonio, Texas, a nationally-known trainer of ponies and an instructor in the also nationally-known polo school of that village, is also present and will be among those in the All-Star lineup Sunday when the Horseguards are taken on.

Bill is bringing along a string of twelve polo-mountain mounts, which he is selling. However, these mounts will be used Sunday. A polo player is rarely any better than his mount—speaking from point of effectiveness in action—and Bill's mounts are of good reputation. That might also be a factor.

Anyway it's certain that there will be some spanking of one kind or another at Fort McPherson Sunday.

Gene Tunney Escapes Injury In Auto Crash

Gloversville, N. Y., June 1.—(P.)—Word from Speculator, 50 miles north of here, today said that Gene Tunney, world heavyweight champion, had a narrow escape from injury Monday night when his automobile was rammed by a car operated by an unidentified driver. Tunney had arrived at the hotel of "Bill" Osborne, his "buddy" in France, to start training for a bout in the fall and was out for a spin on the state highway in Osborne's car, when the other driver attempted to pass. He cut in too short, striking the Osborne car and driving it to the side of the road.

Tunney managed to halt the machine on the edge of the road, along side a deep ditch. Neither the champion nor Osborne, who was riding with him, was hurt.

Woodruff To Stage Boxing Show at City Auditorium.

Application for permission to stage a boxing card at the city auditorium June 14 was filed with Al Martin, secretary of the Atlanta boxing commission, Wednesday morning by Fuzzy Woodruff.

The application indicated that Arturo Suckels, the Belgian welterweight who has been fighting consistently under the promotion of Jim Downing at Tampa, will be on the card. Stiles Attaway, a local boy of hardy repute, is also mentioned as possible contender for the first pugilistic flare of the summer season.

Fuzzy Woodruff is promoter of the new boxing activity under the application. Max Abelson will be matchmaker and Jimmy Goldsmith is to be secretary of the activities.

Black Crackers Back Home Again

After spending sometime on the road, the Black Crackers of Atlanta returned to their home stamping ground Wednesday to prepare for a four-game series here with the Nashville colored club to be played at Spiller field, starting Monday.

The local colored nine made a very good trip of it on the road and are all tuned up for a big time at home, the second stand they have made here this season.

Officials of the club state that they will get down to hard work the rest of the week so as to be in tip-top shape for the Vols.

No two ways about it—

P.A. makes some cigarette!

IF YOU like fragrance, open a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and treat yourself to the greatest aroma that ever floated out of a package. If you like easy rolling, notice how P.A. lies down and curls up in a makin's paper, without fuss or muss. That's because P.A. is crimp-cut.

Now light up. Let that marvelous P.A. taste percolate through your smoke-system. Cool as the girl's mother reminding you how late it is. Sweet as the last, lingering "Goodnight." Mild as winter in the tropics. Mild, but with plenty of cigarette body to make it a real smoke.

You'll have to admit that no other home-rolled cigarette ever had so much to recommend it. From the time you roll out of bed in the morning until the last station has signed-off, you'll make 'em and take 'em, end on end. Prince Albert is simply better tobacco, Gentlemen.

Have you tried a pipe lately? Men who thought a pipe was not for them have changed their minds after the first load of P.A. This friendly tobacco just wouldn't think of biting your tongue or parching your throat. Take my tip—get out the old pipe and give it a new deal.

P. A. is sold everywhere. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, June 1.—(AP)—Futures closed steady, 9 to 11 points lower. Spot quiet, middling 16.50. Receipts 294, stock 43,942.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—After selling up from 17.03 to 17.31 for October today, the cotton market eased off under realizing or liquidation with delivery closing at 17.08. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 9 to 11 points. Active months showed net losses of 14 to 17 points in early trading, under profit taking by recent buyers and local or southern selling which was probably inspired by easy Liverpool cables and private reports of rains in west Texas.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 5 to 7 points. Active months showed net losses of 14 to 17 points in early trading, under profit taking by recent buyers and local or southern selling which was probably inspired by easy Liverpool cables and private reports of rains in west Texas.

The decline was checked by covering or some buying on trade and commission house orders, and the mid-day market stiffened up, owing to failure of the detailed weather reports to show as much rain as hoped for in west Texas. July advanced from 16.03 and December from 17.27 to 17.57, all active positions making new high ground for the movement and selling about 10 to 14 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

The weekly report of the weather bureau appeared to make rather a more favorable showing than expected, but its influence was offset by failure of the weather news to show any general rain in west Texas. The precipitation officially reported in Texas was mostly in the northwestern part of the state and exceeded an inch at only two stations. Three more private end-May crop reports were issued with estimates of the probable decrease in acreage ranging from 9.1 to 13.1 per cent, and estimates of the condition ranging from 59.5 to 74 per cent. The only one to give any figures on the indicated crop, placed the condition at 74, and the decrease in acreage at 9.1 per cent; interpreting these figures as pointing to a yield of 14,500,000 bales contingent upon weather conditions during the balance of the season.

Exports today, 31,370, making 10,372,800 so far this season. Port receipts, 7,950. U. S. port stocks, 1,616,900.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET CLOSING 10 POINTS OFF.

New Orleans, June 1.—(AP)—Trading buying stimulated by the dry weather in west Texas, pushed prices up 10 to 13 points above the previous close in today's cotton market. All of the gain was lost in the afternoon, however, on the posting of weather bulletins showing rains of more than an inch at two stations in Texas. The market then declined steadily at net losses for the day of 10 to 11 points.

Reports of fairly good rains in west Texas and lower Liverpool cables in the afternoon, reacting on the market and first trades were 10 to 11 points down. The market continued to ease off during the first hour until October traded to 17.00 and December to 17.21, or 14 points net down.

The failure of the weather map to show the reported rains and the unfavorable weekly weather report steered the market near midnoon and under pressure of heavy buying, October jumped to 17.27 and December to 17.48, 27 points above the lows. In the afternoon the posting of the official rain bulletins in Texas caused prices to ease off 7 to 10 points.

In the late trading prices continued to ease off and the close showed losses of 21 to 24 points from the highs. Two private reports were issued during the morning, making the decrease in acreage 9.13 and 13 per cent, respectively. Exports, 13,370 bales.

I. C. C. RESUMES C. & O. HEARING

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—A number of details as to the Chesapeake & Ohio project for acquiring control of the Erie and Pere Marquette railroads were put in evidence today when the interstate commerce commission resumed hearings on the proposal. Counsel for minority stockholders of the Chesapeake & Ohio, who are opposing the merger, obtained from E. M. Thomas, comptroller of that railroad, copies of its bank balances for several years, scrutinizing particularly deposits of approximately $700,000 held by the corporation with J. P. Morgan & Co. in December, 1925, and $1,400,000 held at the same time with the Union Trust company of Cleveland.

C. D. Mahaffey, finance director for the commission, in charge of the hearings, overruled protests of the Chesapeake & Ohio counsel against questions touching the Green Briar & Eastern transaction. J. K. Thompson, assistant comptroller of the Erie, introduced a series of exhibits relating to operating expenses and finances. I. L. Rye, assistant chief engineer of the Chesapeake & Ohio, likewise brought in exhibits as to reconstruction cost estimates which the road has prepared in connection with plans for improving its western division from Cincinnati to Chicago.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

FOR TWO DAYS FOLLOWING THE START OF BASKERVILLE'S FORCES TOWARD PANAMA, DRAKE WAS BUSY DESTROYING HOMBRE-DE-DIOS AND ALL SHIPPING IN THE HARBOR. ON THE THIRD DAY, AS HE PREPARED TO MOVE TO THE CHAGRES RIVER, A COURIER ARRIVED WITH ADVICES THAT BASKERVILLE HAD BEEN OVERWHELMED IN A MOUNTAIN DEFENSE AND, BADLY BEATEN, WAS IN FULL RETREAT. IT LATER DEVELOPED THAT THE AMMUNITION OF THE ENGLISH HAD BEEN RUINED BY RAIN. DESPITE THIS THEY HAD FOUGHT HAND-TO-HAND WITH GREATLY SUPERIOR FORCES OF SPANIARDS AND HAVING SUSTAINED HEAVY LOSSES THEY HAD BEEN FORCED INTO A DISASTROUS RETREAT.

Sir Francis Drake

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING, NOTED HISTORIAN

BASKERVILLE'S DEFEAT WAS THE FINISHING BLOW TO ALL HOPE OF CAPTURING PANAMA. THE SUCCESS OF THE EXPEDITION WAS JEOPARDIZED. TO ESCAPE UTTER RUIN, DRAKE MUST QUICKLY DEVISE SOME NEW CAMPAIGN. ON THIS EXPEDITION DRAKE'S ATTACKS LACKED THE ELEMENT OF SURPRISE WHICH HAD NEARLY ALWAYS CHARACTERIZED HIS PREVIOUS SUCCESSSES. THIS TIME THE NEWS OF HIS COMING HAD ALWAYS PRECEDED HIM AND THE RESULT HAD BEEN FAILURE. A COUNCIL OF WAR WAS CALLED. DRAKE PROPOSED THE CAPTURE OF THE TOWNS CLUSTERED AROUND LAKE NICARAGUA, OR THE RICH TOWN TRUXILLO, ON THE HONDURAS COAST. THE COUNCIL ACCEPTED THE PLAN AND ON JANUARY 5TH, 1596, THE EXPEDITION WAS IN FULL SAIL FOR NICARAGUA.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS BALK AT EXECUTION

Negro Gains Two Days' Grace

Railroad, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—A negro wife murderer, who literally was snatched from the brink of death after being strapped in the electric chair at the state prison here, refused tonight to break the indifferent silence and stoical calm with which he received his respite.

Yesterday he was to have paid the penalty for his crime; he had seated himself quietly in the death chair and submitted uncomplainingly to the final preparations of binding his arms, head and legs. But when all was in readiness to send the fatal current through his body, the two deputies who had been delegated by their sheriff to witness the switch, balked on grounds that they could not legally officiate at an execution.

A hurried conference among prison officials brought the decision to postpone the execution until Friday. The straps which were to have bound him to death were loosed and he walked with a firm stride, requiring no assistance, out of the death chamber and back into his cell.

His query, "How come, boss?" to his guard, asked with only a faint trace of surprise in his voice while leaving the room from which he had not expected to return, were the only words he allowed himself.

He did not comment on the guard's explanation and has given no indication of his impressions while awaiting the fatal stroke.

Jim Williams had gone into the shadow of death and lived to tell about it but—he did not tell.

The negro was convicted in Putnam county. Under the law, the sheriff of the county must electrocute a condemned prisoner but Sheriff P. L. Hancock had designated Deputies Walter Minton and L. Shumate in this case. They expressed the conviction at the last minute that they were not qualified to act, so Sheriff Hancock is making preparations to have Friday postponed to the next day. The execution was permissible under death warrants in this state, which are valid for a week.

$500,000 MILK PLANT MAY LOCATE AT MACON

Macon, Ga., June 1.—(AP)—The Borden company is planning to erect a $500,000 milk condensing plant in this city, according to a story appearing in tomorrow's Macon Telegraph.

The Telegraph's story states that W. D. Strack, vice president of the Borden company, of New York, is the one who has become interested in establishing the plant here.

Strack could not be located in New York by the Telegraph's correspondent, but from the chamber of commerce it was ascertained that negotiations had been under way to bring a big milk company here.

First information came from New York newspaper on Tuesday, which stated that the Borden company would erect a $500,000 plant here.

Herbert Dillon, an New York banking firm, interested in dairy development in the south, is said to be interested in the new development.

Preachers Open Campaign to Win American Youth

San Francisco, June 1.—(AP)—A campaign to halt the drift away from the church of American youths was started at the final session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church to the United States, of America here today as one of the foremost tasks to be undertaken during the coming year.

In his closing address before the assembly Moderator Robert E. Speer, of New Jersey, emphasized the pressing necessity of following closely the recommendations of the special committee of 1925, which placed squarely upon the church the blame for lack of interest in the young men and women in the church and charging the presbyteries with failure to encourage youths in entering the field of religion as a life work.

"The church today is faced with the great problem of reformation to meet the attractions of modern influences and inventions," Moderator Speer said. "We cannot delete these. It is for us to meet them and utilize them to bring our children into the church."
